TWO proposed constitutional amendments adopted by the legislature and referred to the people are being published in Hope Star over a period of six months at a total cost to the taxpayers of $140—unless the legislature digs up additional money to pay the full legal rate, which is $196. Three other measures are running in a small weekly paper, at what we presume is a corresponding cost—and the taxpayers stand the whole bill, not only in Hempstead, but for the publication of all these bills in every one of the 75 counties of Arkansas.

AAA May Strive to Fix Hours and Wages on Farms

Survey to Determine Whether NRA Principle Will Apply to Land

TROUBLE FORESEEN

Danger That Labor Effort Would Nullify Farm Price Gains

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A joint study that the Department of Agriculture and the Department of Labor are to make of the farm labor situation probably will determine whether the farm agency will attempt to do for the farm hand what NRA is striving to do for the city worker.

Unless the study is made, it was indicated Thursday the Farm Administration will hold in abeyance efforts to deal with farm labor.

Under the sugar bill the Farm Administration was given authority to tell sugar growers who signed contracts of benefit payments the maximum hours they might work there and the minimum wages they would be paid. The AAA also had the power to direct abolishment of child labor in the beet and cane fields.

Officials announced recently that one of the requirements for eligibility to receive payment will be that the grower deal fairly with labor.

It was added that the contracts with the growers would provide that the rate of payment to labor be fair and equitable.

Officials said that the sugar bill was passed so late that attempts to prevent an increase in sugar average might fail if any rigid wage and hour provisions were insisted upon. Next year, the yadded, the labor matter will be dealt with in more direct language.

A Controversial Problem

Quite a few of the farm leaders feel, however, that the farm labor question contains all sorts of political and economic dynamite. In their opinion, any attempt to regulate the working conditions of hired hands on farms might nullify the attempt to raise farm prices. They believe landlords would resent any such attempt at regulation.

The Farm Administration has colluded with other phases of the labor situation, notably in the cotton acreage reduction program. An attempt was made there to prevent tenants from being forced off farms through the acreage slash and see that they receive their full share of benefit payments under the program.

900 Protests Investigated
The attempt was only partly successful and a Board of Review was set up to handle complaints. The board will issue a report soon that will say that the cancellation of only 17 contracts with landlords was recommended for their failure to treat tenants fairly. More than 900 protests by renters or share-croppers were investigated. There were many cases however of tenants being unable to find land to cultivate which were outside the board's jurisdiction.

Then too, there are thousands of itinerant farm workers who drift from crop to crop at harvest time. They are found in the citrus groves in Florida, Texas and California and in several trucking and fruit sections as well as following the path of the wheat harvest.

Petition Attacks A. & M. Trustees

Pine Bluff Attorney Raps 3 Trustees and President Horsfall

LITTLE ROCK.—Petitions signed by approximately 1,000 residents of seven counties in the Monticello Agricultural School district, seeking removal of three members of the Board of Trustees and Frank Horsfall, president of that institution, were filed at Governor Futrell's office Thursday by R. W. Wilson of Pine Bluff and W. E. Spencer, former Drew county judge, attorneys representing the petitioners.

The petition charged that E. W. Gates of Crossett, W. C. Perdue of El Dorado and J. L. Longino of Pine

Our readers know the frank policy this newspaper pursues toward legal publications which are to be paid for by taxation.

The sole purpose of such publications should be to make sure that as many citizens as possible see and read the actual text of the proposed new laws.

If that purpose were honestly followed the legal publications would be placed with those newspapers which clearly had the largest circulation in their respective territories.

If the purpose of buying advertising space in the newspapers with tax money is the same purpose that the merchant has in mind when he buys display space for clothing and groceries, then the state would exercise due care that for a stipulated sum of money it receive the largest possible circulation.

But that is not the purpose of "legal publications"—and everyone knows that instead of spending the taxpayers' money as carefully as the merchants spend their advertising money, office-holders spread these "legal publications" around among as many newspapers as possible.

It is not our purpose to criticize office-holders, past or present, for an abuse which is deeply rooted in American history.

But we do think it is time the taxpayers rose in revolt against a petty graft which, under the guise of "furnishing information to the public," becomes actually an outright subsidy of money from the state to the newspapers.

The Star is put in the position of accepting money for legal advertising from the State of Arkansas simply because if we don't take it some other paper will.

That is the law. But it isn't right—and the law should be abolished.

There is nothing in the way of new laws or proposed amendments which the state should have to pay the newspapers to publish.

It is the duty of the newspapers to publish the facts about government—and as a matter of sound management all good newspapers will accomplish these publications whether paid for them or not.

I know that I will get some bricks-bats from some fellow publishers for taking this position—but I have consistently opposed the organized newspapers of the state in their attempt to shake down state and local government for subsidies of the rankest sort.

The origin of these act and amendment publications is simply this: In pioneer days every frontier settlement knew that it had to have some sort of newspaper, to present the news of the day and to offer whatever editorial suggestions the proprietor was capable of.

But in these days the commercial life of the community was thin and unorganized. There was little or no commercial advertising. And subscriptions are sold at a loss the world over. It was logical, therefore, that state and local government should help out by arranging for the paid publication of certain new laws, and so forth.

Even today the government of Great Britain, wishing to hold together the far ends of its mighty empire by the ready transmission of news, subsidizes the press cables between London and Cape Colony. South Africa—realizing that the commercial advertising of Cape Colony will hardly pay for a

Premier Mussolini in Accord, Says British Foreign Secretary

HINGES ON LOCARNO

No Particular Alliance, But an "Understanding" Is Reached

LONDON, Eng. —(AP)—Great Britain has reinforced the pact of Locarno alliance but had not entered and "select alliance" with any country, Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, declared Friday before the House of Commons.

In an anxiously-awaited statement of England's position in continental affairs Sir John said the recent Anglo-French conversations had resulted in a greater feeling of peace and security in Europe and will greatly improve conditions on the continent if the powers affected fully enter the proposed Eastern regional agreement.

He added that Premier Mussolini agrees with Great Britain as to the necessity of the Eastern pact—Eastern Locarno as it has been called—and fully approves of it.

Sir John supported the statement of Louis Barthou, French foreign minister, when the latter left London, that Britain and France are cooperating in trying to effect a permanent peace in Europe.

Trade-Out Urged to Complete No. 4

Washburn Tells Rotary No. 4 Should Be Finished, and No. 24 Improved

The proposal advanced by Prescott civic groups for the black-topping of highway No. 4 through northern Hempstead county, while No. 4 through southern Nevada county would be completed as a gravel road, should be met by a counter-proposal from Hope, A. H. Washburn told the Rotary club Friday noon at Hotel Barclay.

The Star's publisher said it was entirely unlikely that the State Highway Commission would consent to any black-top construction while there are still ungraded and unsurfaced links in the gravel roads of the state.

He said Hope and Prescott should get together on a workable compromise—and suggested the completion of the 11-mile link in No. 4 from Rosston to the Ouachita-Nevada county line, and the rebuilding of No. 24, which runs on a narrow dump over improvised bridges between Blains and McAniskill.

It would cost thousands of dollars to reconstruct No. 24 as a full-fledged secondary highway, he said; but No. 4 was built originally with the expectation of carrying through traffic.

Hempstead and Ouachita counties have seen their ends of the state construction on No. 4 completed, and some way of appeasing Prescott must be found in order to get the road finished across eastern Nevada county, he said.

The speaker pointed out that while No. 4 takes part of Nevada's state highway allotment, without helping the City of Prescott, the situation is almost identical with that of No. 24, which the City of Hope helped put through for northern Hempstead county, and Prescott and Nashville.

Despite the fact that the road does not touch this city and in fact helps connect it with the rest of the state.

Bigamy Charge May Be Filed Against Little Rock Barber

HOT SPRINGS.—Prosecuting Attorney Houston Emory said Thursday if an investigation he is making will establish proof of the charge of bigamy against F. W. Schultz, Little Rock barber, he will have a warrant on that charge issued for Schultz, who is alleged to have married Eva Whitaker, 16, also of Little Rock, here while Mrs. Schultz witnessed the wedding.

The Whitaker girl says that Schultz at the time used the name of Fred Scott, and that they were married September 18, 1933. Records at the office of County Clerk James C. Williams, reveal that a license was issued to Fred Scott and Eva Whitaker here on that date and that they were married.

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Replying to an official German protest against the anti-Hitler utterances at Waterloo, Iowa, of Hugh S. Johnson, the Department of State said Friday it was "to be regretted" that the position occupied by the recovery administrator made it possible for his remarks as an individual to be "misconstrued as official."

WATERLOO, Iowa.—(AP)—"I meant everything I said," Hugh S. Johnson declared Friday when shown dispatches that the German embassy had protested his speech here Thursday night.

Johnson said in Thursday's speech that recent events in Germany had shown him "more clearly" why newspaper publishers have insisted on writing into their code "a clause saving their constitutional rights." There is no reason for their fears, he added.

Case of Trusty Guard to Be Reviewed by State Penal Board

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—The resignation of A. G. Stedman, superintendent of the Arkansas prison system, was accepted by the State Penal Board here Friday in a special session to investigate the killing of Helen Spence Eaton, 22-year-old brunette slayer, by a trusty guard as she sought to escape for the fifth time.

Stedman presented the following letter of resignation to Walter A. Helms of Texarkana, chairman of the board:

"Please accept my resignation as superintendent of the penal institution of the State of Arkansas, to take effect immediately. "I am doing this that it might stop criticism which the penal board and the governor might have to be confronted with in the near future."

Former Warden S. L. Todhunter, of Little Rock, was elected by the board to succeed Stedman temporarily.

Resignation Forecast

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—A force of 300 Democrats said Friday it had received information that Superintendent A. G. Stedman would not be retained as head of the state prison system.

The penal board met at noon at the capitol, with Stedman present, and heard Trusty Guard Martin and Coroner L. C. Aday testify.

Deputies Withdrawn

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—A force of deputies which was placed around the Pulaski county jail by Sheriff L. B. Branch to augment the guards there was dismissed Friday after dozing peacefully throughout a night of rumor that public feeling was running high against Frank Martin, a trusty guard who shot and killed Helen Spence Eaton, 22, who was jailed Thursday on a charge of murder pending an investigation by the penal board and probable grand jury consideration of the case.

Sheriff Branch said that rumblings of a possible attempt of violence which were reported to have come from Loneoke county and North Little Rock were attributed to private "popping off."

The Arkansas Federation of Women's clubs, through its president, Mrs. J. W. Welch of Lewisville, condemned "conditions which made possible the killing" and urged that women's organizations demand a full investigation.

Coroner Reconsiders

After Coroner Aday investigated the shooting at the scene Wednesday, he issued a verdict of justifiable homicide, exonerating Martin.

Wednesday, however, Dr. Aday reconsidered and advised Governor Futrell that he had decided to let the matter be presented to the Pulaski county grand jury.

Dr. Aday's statement follows: "I investigated the killing of Helen Spence Eaton by Frank Martin, convict guard, and went into every detail before I rendered my verdict. I believed Martin shot because he feared he knew the exact circumstances that were presented to me, all would agree with me. I told everyone that this was a difficult case to handle, and I believed Martin shot because he feared his own life would be taken, and from that angle, according to the law, he was justified."

"The fact that she had killed two men, whether justified for so doing or not, convinced everyone that she would kill again; the note left by her saying that she would not be taken alive and only a short time before had threatened Mrs. Vann at the point of a gun, and knowing she had a gun would make anyone afraid she would shoot to kill, caused me to exonerate Martin."

"With all this in mind I feel like that, it being a woman killed by another woman."

College Youth Is Hunted in Texas

Suspect in Girl's Death Leaps From Car During Chase

NORMAN, Okla. —(AP)—A panicky college boy was hunted Thursday night in Houston, Texas, while the body of his campus sweetheart, Marian Mills, 20, University of Oklahoma beauty queen lay in a cemetery near here.

Leaping from a motorcar when a suspicious motorist gave chase, a youth believed to be Neal Myers, 21, university junior who vanished just before a doctor found the body of Miss Mills in an apartment here Tuesday, disappeared into a wooded residential section area of the Texas city last night.

In and around the abandoned motor car police found several boxes of pills, a container of black powder and personal belongings of young Myers. The car, they said, was the property of the boy's father, Dr. F. B. Myers of El Reno, Okla.

As the body of Marian was buried following simple funeral services, Norman authorities continued to question Mrs. Hazel Brown, the fraternity cook, in whose apartment the girl's body was found.

The girl and young Myers had been at the apartment for a day and a half. Mrs. Brown said, engaged in a desperate attempt to avert motherhood by the use of a "quack" remedy.

However, County Attorney Paul Updegraff said he did not believe the remedy could have killed Miss Mills and expressed the belief that the 39-year-old cook and student confidante could tell more. He declared open bottles containing a powerful restorative and another medicine had been taken to the apartment kitchen before the girl died. The report of an autopsy will not be completed until Saturday or Monday.

Cinema Beauties Consistently Cast in Degrading Roles Will Face Stern Penalty in Crusade for Filmland Cleanup

By DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Staff Correspondent
This is the fifth of Dan Thomas' series of six stories on the housecleaning now under way in Hollywood, forced by the crusade against off-color pictures.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—Unfortunately for them, some feminine stars are working under terrific handicaps during the current campaign for cleaning up the movies.

Mae West, Norma Shearer, Jean Harlow, Constance Bennett, and Carole Lombard are finding the cards pretty well stacked against them as a result of the characters they have portrayed during the last couple of years.

Because of these roles, not necessarily of their choosing, every film in which any of them appears in the future will be scrutinized with double care by those who have made it their business to clean up pictures.

Individually and as a group, these actresses have gained the reputation of appearing in films which have objectionable features, either because of the general plot, because of the characters they portray or because of the manner in which they are dressed.

Mae May Surprise 'Em
Miss West, who has become known as the sex queen of the movies and glories in her position, naturally is associated with films in which sex situations play a major role. Her own makeup and mannerisms, the dialog she speaks, and much of the plot are based primarily on sex.

Of course all these factors can be present and still not be objectionable, as was shown in her first picture, "She Done Him Wrong." But Mae is an old-time trouper, and there is no reason at all to believe that she can play only one kind of role. It would be rather startling, and might be a good drawing card, to present in some quite innocent role for a change.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

If You're Not a Reader of the Congressional Record, Don't Start...
Mr. Truxax is prominent therein...
And likewise Kaye McCarthy...
Also, One, Will Rogers is helpful Contributor.

By RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON.—Chances are, you don't read the Congressional Record. Just as a friendly warning, don't start. You'd learn a lot you didn't know before, but you'd waste a lot of time in which you might be out playing badminton or something.

Anyway, you can depend on your congressman to send you anything in the Record he wants you to see. It probably will be a copy of some speech which he never made, but which did get into the Record, so he could mail it under government frank to convince you that he ought to be re-elected.

Three bulky Records full of never-delivered speeches have just arrived. The 473 pages include 32 speeches bragging about the New Deal and recent performances—among them one in verse—13 Republican attacks on the New Deal, one Democratic attack on the New Deal by Senator Clegg of Ohio, 25 memorial addresses and lots of outbursts about this and that. I haven't read them all, but you might try these titles:

"The Vultures, by Weideman; The Battle Is On, Lemke; Our National Archives Building—What Shall We Do With It? Bloom; I Stood by the President, Disney; Interest Is Wall Street's Pound of Flesh, Will Rogers; The Record and Past Accomplishments of a Member of Congress Furnishes a Fairly Reliable Yardstick, by White; To Miss the Character of Service His Constituents May Expect of Him in the Future, Lozier; I Am Glad to Have Assisted the Veterans to Get Justice, Jenkins; On Our Way, But Where—100,000,000 People Ought to Know, Snell; We Have Made No Progress Toward Recovery, Taber.

Looking farther, we find My Record in the Seventy-third Congress, O'Malley; Apportioning of Appointments in the Department of Agriculture Among the Several States, Territories and Districts of Congress, Rogers; Wild Life in the United States and Keep the Home Fires Burning, Snyder.

And, to top it off: A New Declaration of Independence—A Modern Magna Charta Freedom for American Farmers From Tyranny, Confiscation, and Oppression of the Shylocks and Money Lenders; Italian Citizens of Ohio, Among Whom There Are None More Patriotic, Loyal, or Progressive, Are Given Recognition by Appointment of Arthur de Luca as a Cadet to West Point; and Representative Truxax Saves Taxpayers Approximately $20,000,000 by Truxax.

Truxax Objects and Objects
Well, Mr. Truxax—he's running for the Senate in Ohio and doesn't care what House colleagues think of him—may have saved taxpayers $20,000,000. But he was darned lucky, in so doing, to save himself a punch in the nose. When the unanimous consent calendar came up, Truxax objected consistently to private bills which in many cases would have compensated citizens injured by mail truck accidents or dealings with the government. Lots of folks were hating Mr. Truxax as Congress adjourned.

Kaye McCarthy on Job
I also find in the Record an actually delivered speech by Congresswoman Kathryn O'Loughlin McCarthy of Kansas, defending her farm record against attacks back home. "Remember my initials are 'K. O.'," said she. "And Knock-Out McCarthy is on the job!"

And How Many Cents?
Nor can your correspondent but acknowledge our common debt to Congressman Will Rogers of Oklahoma, who, in the closing days of the session, during an attack on Wall Street, figured out how much you or I would have today if we had lent a dollar in the Year 1 A. D. at 6 per cent compound interest.

"By 1936," he reported, "it would have become, when enumerated, six quinquedillions, 913 quaterdecillions, 170 tredecillions, 171 duodecillions, 192 undecillions, 611 decillions, 82 nonillions, 296 octillions, 286 septillions, 181 sextillions, 309 quintillions, 244 quadrillions, 12 trillions, 412 billions, 764 millions, 553 thousand, and 729 dollars."

It doesn't make a bit of difference whether you believe that or not. And it is to be hoped that some stern constituent will demand of Rogers: "Well, what about the odd cents?"

The estimated average weekly movie attendance in the United States in 1933 was 60,000,000.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

Child Often Must Be "Made" to Obey Parental Orders

"Timothy, go and get that lawn mower right away, I've told you six times. You know what daddy said: 'Oh, I'm getting it. Yes, am, too. Right this minute.'"

Tim pulled himself out of the garage. In fifteen minutes his mother called: "Timothy, where are you? What on earth are you doing?"

"I'm oiling it. But there ain't any oil in this old can."

"You get at that grass. That lawn mower is all right. What you need is grease for your elbows and legs. Now hustle."

Teaching a Lesson
It was very warm. The summer afternoon was calling for shade and dreams and lying on your back watching the vanilla-chocolate clouds piling high in the west.

"Say, mom, I don't think I'd better cut the grass today. It's all dried up and it'll look awful when it's cut. I better wait and see if it rains."

Out marched his mother and seized the mower. "I'll do it myself, you lazy bones. I never saw such a boy."

She cut a furious swathe, followed by a contrite boy. "Here, I'll do it. I'll do it. Daddy will give me heck if you get sick." He tried to get hold of the handle, but she kept grimly on. Her blood pressure was mounting. She knew she shouldn't touch the mower, much less be out in the sun.

"I'll teach you one good lesson," she said. "It will probably kill me, but this grass is going to be cut if it's the last thing I ever do."

Tim sat down and began to cry. "Aw, mom, I'm sorry—honestly. I'll never poke that way again. I was going to cut it. I'd had it all done before daddy came home. Please, mom."

Martyr Complex
By this time a sort of sweet vengeance had begun to fill her. She would do the whole thing and probably be ill. Then Timothy's father would be furious and whip this lazy child of theirs. She didn't know she felt this way, but she did. She wanted the boy to have his lesson and was willing to be the martyr and pay a dear price in order that he should have the punishment she hadn't the courage to give herself. In other words, she had the wrong kind of courage.

It turned out as she planned. The doctor came and Timothy was in disgrace for days and made to feel that if his mother died it was all his fault, a punishment far in excess of his small crime.

Children have no great sense of responsibility. As a matter of fact, unless they are carefully conditioned to expect certain duties, they have to be pushed.

In the cool of the morning, if his mother had said, "Come," and put the mower in his hands, very likely the job would have been done. The trouble was that she coaxed and threatened all day, but never once "made" the boy get at his work. Naturally he stretched patience as long as he could. Most children do.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

Summer Cosmetics Time Savers in Beauty Romance

New summer cosmetics that greatly simplify beauty routines are a boon to the woman who has little time for personal grooming. Grooming, by the way, is a better term than making-up. To say that a woman is well-groomed means a great deal more than to say that she wears the right shade of powder, knows how to put on eye shadow and that she is careful to match her lipstick to her rouge.

First of all, she uses depilatories and deodorants. And one of the new beauty preparations that is simple to use comes in handy right here. There is a colorless, quick-drying deodorant that comes in an atomizer. Simply spray it on under your arms, let it dry and then rinse off before you put on clothes. This particular deodorant has to be used daily but it's so little trouble to apply that no one will object to using it so frequently.

Then there are deodorant bath powders which fastidious women like. These are time-savers, too. If you don't like powder after the bath, try cologne. It's cooling and refreshing and you can get a large bottle for no more than the price of a theater ticket. A nice idea is to match your cologne to your perfume—that is, if you wear perfume during the hot months. Many women don't.

SOPHIE KERR'S SUPERB LOVE STORY "STAY OUT OF MY LIFE!"

By Sophie Kerr

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JANE TERRY comes to New York determined to show her house town and especially AMY JACKSON that she can make a success of her life. Amy had been her best friend until HOWARD JACKSON broke the engagement Jane forced on him and married Amy. Unable to bear the sight of Amy's happiness, Jane obtains a job in a New York real estate office.

Jane is clever and soon is making an excellent salary. She has an affair with HOWARD THORPE, who is married. Later she tires of him and when he offers to bear the expense of their child she dismisses him contemptuously. In her desperate plight Jane turns to Amy for help. Howard is touring Germany and Amy comes to New York. She stays until the baby is born and then, horrified because Jane insists on giving her daughter away, agrees to take the child with the understanding that Jane never shall return her.

Jack in Marburg Amy worries over what Howard will think of her taking the baby. A month passes and then one morning the telephone rings and she hears his voice.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XX

OVER the telephone Howard explained it all to Amy. He and Professor Ellert had suddenly managed to get passage on a freighter—slow and small and primitive, without a wireless. They had just landed and he had raced to the nearest telephone. Yes, he had sent her a cable when they left but had not had time to get to a typewriter. "Probably he'd pocketed the money and thrown the message away," they were both well and he was going to grab old Professor Ellert and dash to the station for the next train.

"But I had to hear your voice, Amy—I couldn't wait. I'll send a wire if there's time but I had to tell you first." And then again "Darling—darling!"

After she had put down the telephone she remembered that he hadn't yet known about the baby. Not that it mattered. He was back, he was safe. In another day he would be with her! Nothing, nothing else mattered beyond that lesson knowledge and expectation.

How she ever got through the interval she could not tell. She telephoned and was telephoned to, though she hardly knew what she was saying. She cleaned and polished and arranged and rearranged the house. She crammed her refrigerator and pantry with every edible for which Howard had ever shown the slightest preference. She filled the room with flowers. She played loud triumphant music—the A Flat Polonaise, the Rakoczy March and the hilarious "Alexander's Ragtime Band"—but every moment was an age and she turned constantly to watch the clock. A telegram came, telling her the train, the hour of his arrival, and at last time reluctantly dragged itself to the fulfillment of its promise.

Life was there, actually, brown and hard and strong. His arms were like bands of steel around her. "I worked as an able seaman on that damned boat," he said. "It would have been fun if I hadn't been so anxious to get back to you. I'll never let you out of my sight again."

She blurted it out: "I've adopted a baby. A little girl!"

Goering to Flout All German Law

"Justice Not of Primary Importance," Asserts Nazi Lieutenant

BERLIN, Germany. —(AP)—The "People's Court" which is to try all traitors and those accused of treason, was appointed by Chancellor Hitler Tuesday and will start work Saturday sitting in Berlin in the old House of Lords.

It will settle the fate of Communists held for more than a year and hundreds of Storm Troop leaders and their reactionary friends held for the past 10 days charged with plotting against Hitler.

Goering's importance in the judicial life of Germany was shown today when he told representatives of Prussian prosecuting attorneys what he expected of them. The chief of the Secret Police, Heinrich Himmler and his assistant, Chief Heinrich of Hitler's black-shirted bodyguard, were at Goering's side when he declared, "any attempt to undermine the state is also an attack on national socialism. It is consequently your duty to consider any attack on the state as an attack on Hitler."

"We do not accept the axiom that law must be upheld at all costs," Goering continued. "We do not regard justice as a primary importance. 'The nation issued justice and the will of der Fuehrer (Hitler) are one'."

Minimum Price Is Fixed on Cigarette

NRA Halts Practice of Using Cigarettes as Sales "Bait"

WASHINGTON. —(AP)—NRA Thursday fixed the price of popular brand cigarettes at a minimum of 13 cents a package for a package of 20 or two for a quarter.

Cartons will cost the smoker not less than $1.20. The 20-for-10-cents variety of cigarettes will continue to sell for 10 cents. The price limitation begins July 15 and was set for a 90-day period in two orders by Hugh S. Johnson.

Johnson, declaring "an emergency has arisen tending to defeat the purpose" of the recovery law.

The emergency named was the extensive use of cigarettes "less leaders by large retailers and chain store distributors not primarily engaged in the retail tobacco trade. NRA said that such stores were using cigarettes as a 'bait' for other business 'a practice which has practically eliminated small enterprise from tobacco distribution.'"

In some instances popular brands were said to have been selling as low as two packages for 23 cents and from $1.08 to $1.15 a carton. During the 90-day period of the order, NRA's research division will study operation of the price requirements.

Johnson's wholesale order said the total percentage added to the wholesaler price need in no case be greater than 3.1 per cent in the case of sales to retailers and 2.1 per cent in the case of sales to sub-jobbers.

Bombers Reply to Dolfuss's Threat

Five Injured as Terrorists Strike Back at Austrian Chancellor

VIENNA, Austria. —(AP)—Opponents of Chancellor Engelbert Dolfuss answered his threats of death to terrorists Thursday by setting off two bombs, one of which injured five persons.

The bombs followed a period of comparative inaction on the part of the terrorists and it was recalled that on several previous occasions there have been renewed outbreaks when Dolfuss showed an inclination to take severe measures.

Seven Nazis were arrested on suspicion in connection with the bomb at Salzburg which injured five persons. Their case was being watched to determine whether Dolfuss, now that he

The Salzburg bomb was thrown into an automobile of a member of the government party. Fatherland Front, who parked in front of a small tavern in front of the famous "Klosterbrau" beer hall. Four of those injured were Austrian tourists, and the fifth was a 12-year-old girl, who had been sent to the tavern for beer.

The injuring of persons by bombs has been unusual, apparently the policy of the terrorists being to demonstrate their ability to damage property as a sign of what they could do if they wished.

Roosevelt Strikes Out Into Pacific

Cocos Island Is His Goal Friday, on Way to Hawaii

ABOARD THE CRUISER NEW ORLEANS, en route to Hawaii with President Roosevelt. —(AP)—President Roosevelt cruised out into the Pacific ocean at 5 a. m. Thursday and headed for the Hawaiian Islands.

The president boarded the cruiser Houston at 4 p. m. after a motor trip with President Arias of Panama to the ruins of old Panama City on a hill overlooking the ocean.

The president expressed surprise at the uncovering of the old brick and stone fortresses since his visit to Panama 22 years ago.

He stood with his son, Franklin and John, on the fore-structure of the Houston to witness the passing of the cruiser out of the Panama Canal to the sea.

Again during drives through Balboa and Panama City the president was greeted at all places by waving and applauding citizens.

He said he expected Gen. Hugh S. Johnson to continue the administration of the NRA and that as far as the future administration is concerned he had not determined what would be done.

Cocos Island, is Friday's goal for the Houston. The spot, about 600 miles out, is turing the president as a fishing ground.

Campaign Is Begun for Home Repairs

Federal Government Plans to Speed Up Home Renovation

WASHINGTON. —(AP)—Opening of a country-wide campaign to make the American home owner "repair conscious" approached Thursday with appointment of Albert L. Dean, president of General Motors Holding Corporation, as deputy housing administrator in charge of modernization.

Dean was chosen by James A. Moffett, the housing administrator, to persuade banks, building and loan agencies and similar institutions that they should lend money to repair homes and persuade the home owner that now is the time to borrow.

The government will guarantee 20 per cent of losses on money loaned for modernization and repair.

Dean told newspapermen he had selected Ward Canada, head of a Toledo advertising agency, to direct the campaign.

Dean said the impression had gone out that the government would guarantee only 20 per cent of the individual amount of each loan.

"We guarantee 20 per cent of the total losses by volume," he said. "For instance, if the bank lends $50,000, we

Railroads Neutral in Compress War

Battle Between Memphis and Outlying Area for New Rates

LITTLE ROCK.—Railroads have taken a neutral stand in the controversy arising from the proposal of the Memphis (Tenn.) compress operators that the "float-in" cotton territory be extended to points in Arkansas and Missouri within 200 miles of Memphis, J. J. Ritchie, chief clerk to the general freight agent of the Missouri Pacific Lines, said Thursday.

A hearing will be held by F. A. Lehner, chairman of the Southwestern Freight Bureau of St. Louis, Mo., on the Memphis proposal within the next several weeks.

Memphis compress operators petitioned the Southwestern Freight Bureau to extend the "float-in" area from 50 to 200 miles from Memphis in such an area cotton ginned at one point may be shipped to Memphis and reshipped to destination after the bales are compressed, without any freight charges for handling between the gin and compress.

Opponents of the Memphis proposal have until July 24 to file objections with the Freight Bureau, Mr. Ritchie said. Subsequently a date for the hearing of Mr. Leland will be set.

The controversy between shippers of the Memphis area and shippers in the area lying outside the 50-mile territory and railroads will make no decision until both sides of the question are presented at the public hearing, Mr. Ritchie said.

will pay all losses up to $10,000."

The government's liability is limited to $200,000,000 and it cannot insure losses on more than one billion dollars in private losses.

"But once this thing is started," he said, "a lot of repair and modernization can be paid for in cash. We don't expect more than one-third on credit."

great volume of cable matter transmitted 6,000 miles.

But the day when the American press had to be subsidized by government passed away years ago.

Advertising has developed mightily since the World War.

There is more justification for government today subsidizing almost any citizen except the newspaper proprietor.

Newspapers are prosperous—if they aren't, the fault is with the management, not with the times.

But the weaker part of the press, unable to forget the "easy money" of state legal publications, continues to demand this governmental pay, thereby dodging management problems which if properly solved would make subsidies unnecessary.

It is doubtful whether the press as a whole can be persuaded to abandon its demand for subsidies.

The solution largely rests with the taxpayers themselves.

PETITION ATTACKS

Bluff, members of the board, "are guilty as accessories before and after the fact, and guilty as principals, to each and every offense for which John W. Richardson was removed from office by his excellency, the governor of Arkansas."

Governor Futrell was asked to appoint a "fair, impartial and able person, learned in the law," to act as special master to hear testimony on both sides, and to make a finding of facts to be submitted to the governor.

Governor Futrell was not at his office when the petitions were left with a secretary, but after reading the petitions Thursday night, the governor announced that he will ask Senator A. J. Johnson of Star City to conduct an investigation of the charges contained in the petition.

The governor said he can remove board members only for cause and that such action must be based on a written record which will be subject to review by the courts.

For that reason, he said, it will be necessary to take testimony and to have the record transcribed and presented in concise form. The governor had not consulted Senator Johnson about the appointment, but said he hoped the Lincoln county senator, who is a widely known lawyer, will undertake the responsibility of developing a proper record so that the matter can be handled intelligently and expeditiously.

Senator Johnson said from his home at Star City Thursday night that he will accept the appointment to act as referee or master in conducting hearings on charges against the board members.

He said he had not heard from the governor and knew nothing of the charges contained in the petition, but that, if he could be of service in addition, justifying the matter, he would comply with the governor's request that he conduct the hearings.

President Horsfall, advised of the filing of the petitions and of the governor's selection of Senator Johnson to act as special master, said he had "nothing to say, one way or the other."

her convict, and shot in the head, the public is entitled to know more about the killing and I have placed a charge of murder against him to await the action of the grand jury. I called the prosecuting attorney's office and was Auten. And then called the governor's unable to reach Mr. Bailey or Mr. office and told McCall my intentions and he agreed that the charge should be placed against Martin. Captain Stedman, who also concurred, brought Martin in and turned him over to Sheriff Branch who placed him in jail.

"I have nothing to cover up and I am taking this stand because I believe I am doing what public opinion is entitled to. I hope there can be some way devised where the state can raise money to hire good men to serve as guards at the penitentiary."

Governor Futrell said he had no comment to make. He said that the matter appeared to him to be one that should be disposed of by the State Penal Board and the courts. Chairman Walter Helms of Texarkana called a meeting of the penal board for Monday to investigate the shooting of the girl.

Mrs. Joe Storthz of Little Rock, member of the penal board said that she had not communicated with the other members and knew nothing of the proposed meeting to consider the Eaton slaying. She said she was greatly shocked by the affair and that the young woman's death under similar circumstances was deeply regrettable. She said she had talked to the girl frequently, the last time about 10 days ago, and that she appeared in good spirits and said that she intended to give no more trouble.

A new trusty guard was sent from Tucker farm to the women's farm Thursday to act as nightwatchman. Mrs. Brookman, superintendent of the farm, said only one trusty had been at the institution for the past several weeks.

WHAT'S WRONG

Those who know Mac think she might spring a surprise.

A long discussion of films in which she has portrayed immoral characters has made Norma Shearer a target for the "clean 'em up" boys. Due solely to the fact that she so often has been cast in such roles, they more or less are expected of her in every picture.

Gowns Are Startling
And her gowns quite frequently are nothing if not immodest. Of course there are exceptions, such as "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," which she is currently filming. However, for this dignified production, there have been six or eight which have been highly censorable.

Ever since she appeared in "Hell's Angels," in which she made a hit because of her very revealing costumes far more than because of her acting, Jean Harlow has had her sex appeal exploited far beyond her ability as an actress.

Not only has she been cast in degrading roles such as in "Red-Headed Woman," "Red Dust," and "Hold Your Man," but in every production she has been garbed in the most revealing gowns—far beyond the limits of decency or attractiveness.

Connie Bennett Is Target
Constance Bennett is another star who studio executives seem to feel is more attractive when cast as a girl who goes wrong and then repents her acts in the closing scenes.

Connie has had a whole series of films, including "Moulin Rouge," "The Affairs of Cellini," and her current production, "The Green Hat," which have presented her in a bad light. When finally released, the latter picture probably will have everything of a suggestive nature eliminated.

In other words, it won't be "The Green Hat," nor will it bear that title. The type of roles in which is cast more than the general tone of her films is the thing which has placed Carole Lombard in a precarious spot. Carole nearly always portrays a girl with rather loose morals and for some reason studio costume designers apparently take delight in draping her in "shock gowns"—gowns designed to shock an audience at first sight because of their daring.

Carole admittedly has one of the best figures in Hollywood, but this manner of dressing has brought a much condemnation down on Carole's shoulders as the roles she has played. All these factors set forth in this and previous articles—indecent pictures, indecent characters, and indecent dress—have been responsible for bringing on the current war against the movies.

But pictures are being cleaned up, rapidly and effectively. There isn't much that can be done about those films already on the market, but there won't be any new ones released with suggestive plots, dirty dialog, or shameless costumes. You can bet plenty of money on that.

NEXT: Clean films, when they are also good films, have often drawn the most enthusiastic public support—and made the greatest profits.

Fruit Soups Start Off a Summer Meal Right—Use Care in Applying Thickening Agent

BY MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

A fruit cup is as perfect a beginning for a summer luncheon or dinner. Its rich coloring is pleasing to the eye and the faint fragrance of the fruit adds to the appetizing effect.

If the idea of a fruit soup is new to you, perhaps a few suggestions regarding its serving will be welcome. Any service which would be correct for either bouillon or a fruit cup can be used for the chilled fruit soup. Bouillon cups chilled in the ice-box before filling, sherbet glasses, cocktail glasses or grape fruit sets all are permissible. The soups are eaten with a small bowlful spoon or a bouillon spoon.

These delicate fruit soups must be served very cold, because half the charm of the soup lies in its temperature.

Fruit soups are best suited to a chilled soup which above all must be

Tomorrow's Menu

Breakfast: Fresh pears, cereal, crisp broiled bacon with crisp, toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon: Broccoli baked with cheese, salad of mixed fruits, Melba toast, iced chocolate.

Dinner: Plum soup, breaded veal cutlets, scalloped potatoes, buttered carrots, stuffed tomato salad, peach felders with raspberry sauce, milk, coffee.

zertful and stimulating to the appetite. A combination of flavors is good and affords a variety of effects.

The thickening agent may be cornstarch, arrowroot, tapioca or even flour. Infinite care must be taken not to make the soup too thick. A firm, sticky concoction is far from inviting, but a slightly thick, syrupy consistency is cooling and delectable. These soups are not felled to any suggestion of firmness; they are fruit juices thickened just enough to lift them from the cocktail class.

The following recipes may suggest other possibilities to you.

Plum Soup

One quart plums, 4 cups water 1 stick cinnamon, 3-4 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon arrowroot, few grains salt. Arrowroot often is used for thickening sauces and puddings in place of cornstarch. It is especially desirable for children, since it is more easily digested than cornstarch.

Suit always is used to take care of the "flat" taste of whatever thickening is used.

Wash plums thoroughly. Put fruit into kettle with water and simmer until skins are broken and fruit is tender. Strain through jelly bag. Add cinnamon and sugar and bring to the boiling point. Add salt and stir in arrowroot mixed to a smooth paste with a little cold water. Cook until mixture thickens slightly. Remove cinnamon stick, chill and serve.

Red Raspberry Soup

Two cups red raspberries, 2 cups currants, 3 cups water, 3-4 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca, few grains salt.

Stem currants. Wash berries and currants and put into kettle. Crush and simmer in water for twenty minutes. Strain through jelly bag and add tapioca and salt. Cook until the mixture is transparent and syrupy. Chill and serve.

Blackberry and sour apple is a piquant mixture. All berries are inviting, used alone or in combination.

Home Clubs

Piney Grove

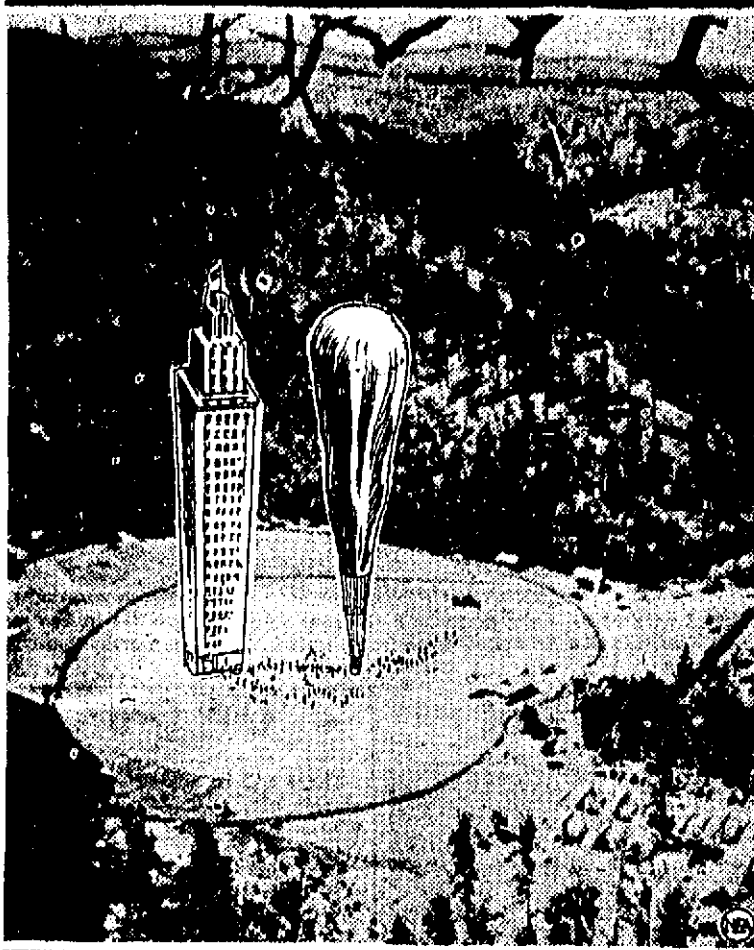

The Home Demonstration club of Piney Grove met July 9 at the home of Mrs. Otis Bred with 16 old members and three new members.

New members were Miss Opal Osborn, Miss Mildred Stophs and Mrs. D. E. Latschaw. There were four visitors present, Miss Dorothy Stophs, Mrs. Ardell Clark, Mrs. Willard Wiggins and Mrs. E. M. Osborn.

Mrs. Millam resigned as the clothing leader and Miss Vera Fowler was appointed to take her place. The August meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. C. E. Bred and the demonstration will be on pickles.

Tomato canning was demonstrated and ways of testing jar rubbers and

Here's Idea of Stratosphere Balloon's Size in Huge Bowl

The thousands of visitors expected at the start of the stratosphere flight of Maj. William E. Kepner and Capt. A. W. Stevens, from the natural bowl near Rapid City, S. D., will look down upon a sight somewhat like this—excepting that 27-story skyscraper! They'll see a huge flabby bag waving upwards three-fourths the height of the surrounding 400-foot cliffs, with a nine-foot gondola hanging to it. The building is there to give you a better idea of the balloon's size.

While the tomatoes were cooking the hostess, assisted by Miss Stophs and Miss Osborn served a delicious course of orange ade and oatmeal nut cookies.

The following reports were given at the meeting: Clothing six dresses, seven undergarments and one pair of rompers; canning, 90 quarts of beans, 267 quarts berries, 42 quarts plums, 20 quarts kraut, 151 quarts pickles; 28 quarts corn, 10 quarts peaches, 8 quarts of soup mixture, 6 quarts of tomatoes, 70 pints of jelly; poultry, 57 little chickens and three hens setting.

The Bodewig Women's club met on July 7 instead of July 4, which was the regular meeting time.

The club was called to order by the president, Mrs. Roy May and the minutes were read by the secretary.

Miss Heath gave a demonstration for making vegetable salads of several kinds and on making butter milk sherbert.

At the close of the meeting the hostess served a grape drink with homemade cookies.

The club will not meet in August on account of Farmers Week, in September they will meet with Mrs. Arthur Caudle.

He Knew Why They Never Did Fight

3 Old-Time Editors Challenged, But They Never Got Together

FORT WORTH, Tex.—There is a novel method for keeping the editors of rival newspapers in the same city from engaging in fistifuffs, although they may be virtually at each other's throats.

Lewis Wood, 78, gray but vivacious Houston lawyer with 56 years of practice, revealed that means while attending the Texas State Bar Association convention.

"Now I hark back to the time when there were three principal newspapers in Fort Worth, the Gazette, the Wool Grower and the Stock Journal, and they fought each other editorially like three hungry wolves," Woods related.

"The Stock Journal would call the sheep men a gang of cattle poisoners, the Wool Grower in its next issue would give the cattlemen hell, and the Gazette would hit a balance between the two."

"Things really got pretty warm and the people got to wondering why the editors didn't come to blows."

"Well, I'll tell you why they didn't. I was editor of all three papers at the same time."

Picture of Slain Girl in Evidence

Defense Objections of No Avail at Marine Engineer's Trial

SAN FRANCISCO —(AP)—Over vigorous protests of defense attorneys, pictures showing the huddled body of Louise Jepperson, lying face downward in a pool of blood, were handed about Thursday among jurors trying Millard Hickman for murder.

The pictures were introduced during testimony of John C. Gentry, stableman, who found the (U.) girl's body in the entrance to a tunnel in Golden Gate park shortly before daylight on the morning of May 18. He said the pictures showed the scene as he saw it on his way to work that morning.

Mrs. Virgil Dunkley, youthful sister of the slain girl, wept.

The prosecution announced that "developments overnight" had made necessary a switch in plans, and that before completing their case against the middle-aged marine engineer charged with criminally attacking and strangling the Utah girl, they would have "10 or 12 more witnesses to put on."

Aluminum Trust to Be Probed by U. S.

Andrew Mellon's Concern Faces Federal Price Inquiry

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Spurred by a federal Circuit Court of Appeals decision adverse to the Aluminum Co. of America, the Department of Justice Thursday prepared to press investigation into alleged monopolistic practices of the huge concern dominated by Andrew W. Mellon and close relatives.

Attorney General Cummings said at his press conference that the recent action of the appeals court in New York City ordering a retrial in a $3,000,000 damage suit brought by the Bausch Machine Tool Company of Springfield, Mass., was highly important to the department's inquiry.

Investigation, initiated months ago, had been "more or less" held up during the pendency of the Bausch case, Cummings said.

Of particular interest to the Department of Justice was the Bausch company's successful effort in the lower court to force the Aluminum company to disclose the cost of production through the filing of a bill of discovery. The figures, though used in the case, were not made public.

Officials of the department said the relation between aluminum prices and production costs over a period of years was the core of the inquiry. Aluminum prices have remained relatively constant while others have declined, they said.

Frameup Charged in Film Scandal

Witness Accused of 'Planting' Scene in Actress' Apartment

LOS ANGELES, Calif. —(AP)—Mrs. Pearl Owings denied from the witness stand Thursday that she, Pat Harman, a motion picture actor, and June DeLong, film extra, had conspired to "frame" Dave Allen, central figure in the Hollywood moral case.

Allen, former head of the Central Castings Corporation, Hollywood agency which handles extra film players for the various studios, and Gloria Marsh, are defendants in the case now being tried before a mixed jury in Superior court.

"Did you not, Pat Harman and June DeLong, plan to get Dave Allen and another girl in Miss DeLong's apartment?" Defense Attorney J. E. Feiler, stormed on cross-examination.

"I did not," the witness replied. "Did not you three plan that Miss DeLong would leave her apartment door open and that you would walk into the apartment?"

"I did not."

Mrs. Owings Wednesday said she went to Miss DeLong's apartment on April 26 to obtain some photographs and that when she walked unannounced into the living room she found Allen, Miss DeLong and Miss Marsh in a "shocking situation."

Feiler asked the witness if she "had not been introduced to various persons in Hollywood as Mrs. Pat Harman."

"No," Mrs. Owings said.

Smallest Wheat Crop in 41 Years

American Production Estimated at 483 1/4 Million Bushels

WASHINGTON—(P)—The story of the drought was written Tuesday in figures of the government crop forecast which predicted a wheat harvest of only 483,662,000 bushels, smallest in 41 years. Production in 1893 was 427,533,000 bushels.

The estimate showed the same situation in the case of oats, barley, rye, and corn save for 1930, when the corn crop was ravaged by midsummer dry weather. Corn production for 1934 was estimated at 2,113,137,000 bushels.

"Due to acreage reduction programs and to losses from drought, the total acreage of field crops harvested will probably be the lowest in 25 years," the report said, adding that "the crop situation is less promising than at this season in any recent year and little if any brighter than it was a month ago."

Private observers had felt that rains since the official crop forecasts in June had improved conditions to the extent that the tentative figure of 500,000,000 bushels of wheat a month ago would be raised. Instead, there was a reduction of 16,378,000 bushels. The estimate for winter wheat last month was 400,000,000 bushels as compared to 394,268,000 today.

The five-year average production of wheat for 1927-1931 was 886,359,000 bushels. Secretary Wallace announced that the 15 per cent reduction in wheat acreage might be continued for the new crop year but he specifically reserved the right to decree that those who signed contracts plant more of the grain.

The report said that nearly normal rainfall during June over the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin, where conditions were very bad, had helped but that the rains were inadequate over the corn belt and that a new drought area had developed in the Southwest.

Weekly Sunday School Lesson

Text: 1 Kings 17:1-7; 19:1-8. The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for July 15.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

The prophet Elijah stands out as a great figure in spiritual history. The records come to us from a remote past, and it is no disparagement of Scripture to say that they bear the characteristics of early records in the history of other times and peoples.

We probably have reality mingled with tradition and beautiful stories that came down concerning the prophet; but the important thing is the simplicity with which all these emphasize their spiritual truth.

Elijah was a man of his time. He does not appear in the New Testament nor in the glory of the New Testament teaching. When the disciples of Jesus wanted Him to call down fire from heaven and consume inhospitable villagers "as did Elijah," Jesus told them that they did not know what spirit they were of.

Jesus came to reveal a larger and fuller gospel—a gospel of love and forgiveness, deep in its comprehensiveness and magnanimity.

But Elijah stands forth, nevertheless, as a great prophet of righteousness, stern, as many men of simple earnestness and righteousness have been, with his enemies well defined and with no great purpose in his heart to love his enemies.

On the contrary, his enemies were the enemies of the Lord, and he was consumed with energy and zeal against those who slighted the truth.

We have in our lesson a beautiful picture of the man of simple character, fed by the ravens and drinking from the water of the brook Cherith. True prophets have always been men of simple life and habit.

There is something in the prophetic mission that seems inharmonious with luxury and indulgence. The prophet must be well disciplined if he would speak of others concerning truth and righteousness.

Elijah's great antagonist was the woman Jezebel, the wife of Ahab. We think of Jezebel as a woman of very wicked and evil character. The term has become a byword for the most debased sort of woman. It is just possible that this representation is not quite fair to Jezebel.

Elijah's intense opposition to her, as the enemy of true religion, may blind our minds to the extent to which Jezebel may have been sincere and earnest in the religion that she professed.

But it was a religion that had not the clear moral sense of Elijah's devotion to Jehovah. It was a religion that was associated with false practices, and even if we think of Jezebel as zealous in her own religion, we must think of her as bigoted and perverse, without a mind and heart open to finer and truer influences.

It is not enough in life to be earnest and zealous. The more earnest and zealous we are in wrong courses, the more harm we are likely to do. The blindness of Jezebel was manifested in her hatred of Elijah and in her determination to destroy him if she could.

Even a prophet must value his life, though he may be willing to yield it on occasion, and Elijah under the threats of Jezebel went to the wilderness discouraged and broken spirited.

Here the Lord's care was manifest more even than in the feeding of the ravens. An angelic vision came to Elijah in his sleep and aroused him. The broken-spirited and discouraged man arose in strength, prepared for the great conflict and triumph that were in store for him.
